Making sense of beliefs Identifying and making sense of religious and non-religious beliefs and concepts; understanding what these beliefs mean within their traditions, recognising how and why sources or authority (such as texts) are used, expressed and interpreted in different ways, and developing skills of interpretation.	Early Learning Goals: Communication and language - Listen attentively and respond to what they hear with relevant questions, comments and actions - Make comments about what they have heard and ask questions to clarify their understanding - Participate in small group, class and one-to-one discussion, offering their own ideas, using recently introduced vocabulary Personal, social and emotional development - Show an understanding of their own feelings and those others - Explain the reasons for rules, know right from wrong and try to behave accordingly - Show sensitivity to their own and to others' needs Literacy - Demonstrate understanding of what has been read to them by retelling narratives using recently introduced vocabulary	- Identify core beliefs and concepts studied and give a simple description of what they mean - Give examples of how stories show what people believe (e.g. the meaning behind a festival) - Give clear, simple accounts of what stories and other texts mean to believers	- Identify and describe the core beliefs and concepts studied - Make clear links between texts/sources of authority and the core concepts studied - Offer informed suggestions about what texts/sources of authority can mean and give examples of what these sources mean to believers	- Identify and explain the core beliefs and concepts studied, using examples from texts/sources of authority in religions - Describe examples of ways in which people use texts/sources of authority to make sense of core beliefs and concepts - Give meanings for texts/sources of authority studied, comparing these ideas with some ways in which believers interpret texts/sources of authority
Understanding the impact Examining how and why people put their beliefs into practice in diverse ways, within their everyday lives, within their communities and in the wider world.	- Explain the reasons for rules, know right from wrong and try to behave accordingly - Show sensitivity to their own and to others' needs Literacy - Demonstrate understanding of what has been read to them by retelling narratives using recently introduced vocabulary	- Give examples of how people use stories, texts and teachings to guide their beliefs and actions - Give examples of ways in which believers put their beliefs into practice	- Make simple links between stories, teachings and concepts studied and how people live, individually and in communities - Describe how people show their beliefs in how they worship and in the way they live - Identify some differences in how people put their beliefs into practice	- Make clear connections between what people believe and how they live, individually and in communities - Using evidence and examples, show how and why people put their beliefs into practice in different ways, e.g. in different communities, denominations or cultures
Making connections Evaluating, reflecting on and connecting the beliefs and practices studied, allowing pupils to challenge ideas studied, and the ideas studied to challenge pupils' thinking; discerning possible connections between these and pupils' own lives and ways of understanding the world.	- Use and understand recently introduced vocabulary during discussions Understanding the World - Talk about the lives of the people around them and their roles in society - Know some similarities and differences between different religious and cultural communities in this country, drawing on their experiences and what has been read in class	- Think, talk and ask questions about whether the ideas they have been studying, have something to say to them - Give a good reason for the views they have and the connections they make	- Make links between some of the beliefs and practices studied and life in the world today, expressing some ideas of their own clearly - Raise important questions and suggest answers about how far the beliefs and practices studied might make a difference to how pupils think and think - Give good reasons for the views they have and the connections they make	- Make connections between the beliefs and practices studied, evaluating and explaining their importance to different people (e.g. believers and atheists) - Reflect on and articulate lessons people might gain from the beliefs/practises studied, including their own responses, recognising that others may think differently - Consider and weigh up how ideas studied relate to their own experiences and the experiences of the world today, developing insights of their own and giving good reasons for the views they have the connections they make
